What is the Bulwarkz W.R.A.I.T.H.?

The Bulwarkz Wireless Risk Analysis Signals Intercept Technology Hub, W.R.A.I.T.H. (WRAITH), is a selection of tested and approved wireless security products and consulting services.

Are wireless networks at a greater exposure to threats than “wired” networks?

Yes, the wireless communications medium, Radio Frequencies (RF), and Microwave Frequencies, which are being deployed within the new Mobile Commerce can easily be received by anyone with the proper equipment. It is just as easy as you receiving a radio station when you drive in your car.

Well, our information is encrypted so aren't we safe?

No, there is basically a big hole in wireless security. Currently, all mobile devices use what is called “two-zone security”. When data moves from one zone to the next, the encrypted data must be decrypted and then re-encrypted. Between those two steps your information is in being transmitted in the clear.
